A. 11 T. PAINTING PICTURE DETAIL * EYEBROWS *

A. 11 T. LEFT EYEBROW - Distance from bottom stroke of eyebrow to tip of eyelash is about the same as the length of the eyelashes. Brow is started with the stroke marked with the yellow number 1. The other strokes are piled on top of this stroke in the order given with all the rest of the strokes randomly pulled through the middle of the brow, on top of each other. The strokes do not necessarily go from the front to the end on one stroke, as the middle of the brow is used to start and finish individual strokes, producing the density in the middle of the brow. A final stroke is laid across the top of the brow, very close to the rest of the brow, but distinctly separate.
